RE: Exposure to High-Level Disinfectants during pregnancy.

Becoming pregnant and having a baby can be both an exciting and stressful experience. It can become more stressful if there is a need to work with chemicals. Medivators appreciates your concerns. Medivators does not make a chemical product(s) that is classified as being carcinogenic, a mutagen(s), or as a teratogen(s).

If you are pregnant or thinking about becoming pregnant and have concerns about using Medivators products, we strongly recommended that you discuss your concerns with your physician. If you or your physician would like to review the Safety Data Sheet(s), these documents can be found online by visiting our website at www.medivators.com. This information can also be emailed or faxed to you and/or your physician by contacting our Customer Service Department at 1-800-444-4729.

If you have any questions regarding Medivators products, please feel free to contact us by email, on our website at www.medivators.com or by calling us at 1-800-444-4729.
